The Positive Interaction between the Arab Intellectual and National Issues: Edward Said and the Palestine Issue as Model

Abstract :The purpose of this research is to address the significant role and the pioneering effort of Edward Said, the thinker and critic, in serving the Palestine cause. After a general introduction about Said's works, and the definition of "intellectual" from the view of many thinkers and writers including Said himself, the research goes deeper to highlight the beginning of Said's awareness of the cause, and the stages of his struggle for it. So, it concentrates on his evaluation of the consequences of the peace process in post-Oslo agreement in 1993. It also focuses on Said's view of Multi-Ethnic State solution. The research explains the Zionist and the American attitude towards Edward Said. Finally the research discusses his limit of symbolizing the role of the intellectual towards his homeland and nation through his activities or works.
